Dual Grain Cleaner & Separator

A new, high grade machine which successfully separates Wild or Tame Oats, Thistles, and all other dockage and degrading material, once through without waste. Designed for great capacity, rapid work and perfect results for the farmer in cleaning all kinds of grain.

The Dual Grain Cleaner is as far ahead of any old style fanning mill as the gang plow is ahead of the walking plow. It will do as much work as can only be done otherwise by using two separate fanning mills and then running the grain over them twice.

The Dual Grain Cleaner and Separator is equipped with force speed, also repeat elevator.

The repeat system is regulated by a board which is adjusted to various points over the screen so that any portion of the grain may be thrown into same and re-run. This is regulated to meet the mixture by raising or lowering it. For instance, if your grain contains a dockage matter from 15 to 20 pounds, it is necessary to run more into your repeat than if it contains the same matter at the rate of 5 to 10 pounds to the bushel. The more dockage, the more grain must be run through the repeat.

Double Screen—This feature is a wonderful improvement over a single screen, in that it gives you actual double screening surface. A buckwheat type screen is used which prevents clogging and is non saggable. Each screen fits into a separate pan, so that the weed seeds are thoroughly taken care of and a perfect job is turned out. Using a double screen, a thinner bed of grain can be made to pass over the screen, better work resulting.

This machine is equipped with two gangs of sieves. The frames of each gang of sieves are well made, so braced to insure long life and prevent sagging. The top gang immediately produces a clean product, which is at once cut away from the rest of the grain and dropped to the third sieve of lower gang to be finished.

EDITORIAL

A Real Test of Patriotism

Reconstruction is becoming a hackneyed word in the vocabulary of all people thus early after the close of the Great War. It is becoming as much a commonplace in our daily conversation and writing as was the phrase used so frequently during the war: "This old world can never be the same again." The truth of the latter saying is being impressed upon all people more and more clearly as the days pass, bringing with them a record of world upheaval in every department of life. And the word "reconstruction" merely stands for those new ideas, methods, and policies whereby the old world which existed prior to August, 1914, is to be changed for the better into a new world having its birth in the terrible cataclysm of the past four and a half years.

The world is confronted with a reconstruction of its social, religious, political, educational, economic and commercial life. Western Canada, cannot, even if it would, stand aloof and immune in this world-wide period of change. Our very habits of thought have undergone a revolution, and formerly held opinions have been uprooted, strong convictions have been weakened and old prejudices destroyed. We are already living in a new world.

Is this new world to be a better, finer one than the old? We all hope so, but it remains with us as individuals, and collectively as a nation, to bring about the realization of that hope. At the moment old customs, systems and policies are in the melting pot; they are being tried in the fiery furnace of a great social revolution which is sweeping world with irresistible force. The danger is that in turning away the dross of the past we may fail to extract the pure gold of sound principles and the experience of the ages. With the swing of the pendulum from the old autocracy of the past to the new democracy of the future, there is danger of people mistaking their new found liberty for license, of going from one extreme to the other. And extremes are always dangerous.

This tendency is seen not only in Russia and other European countries where Bolshevism is leading to anarchy and ruin, but it is noticeable in Great Britain, United States and Canada where masses of the people in their eagerness to break away and discard the past are impatient of the time and consideration required in preparing and putting into effect new policies and creating new systems. Yet if the best results are to be attained, if permanent conditions making for lasting good are to be created, it must be by the taking of gradual steps, by evolution, and not by violent measures and sudden revolution.

The next few months constitute the most critical period in the history of mankind. The sudden coming of peace threw the world out of gear even more completely than did the sudden outbreak of war. With the outbreak of war, endangered were the personal liberties and our very national independence, the fires of patriotism burned high and people of all classes were willing to undergo any discomfort and make any sacrifice in order that victory might be achieved. But with victory came relaxation, and the danger now is that the patient patriot may become the impatient and carping critic.

The real patriotism of the Canadian people is to be put to the test now and during the next few months. With the throwing of tens of thousands of men and women out of work employment, and the return of some thousands of soldiers to civilian life, there will inevitably be some unemployment, and unemployment always means idleness and leads to discontent, unrest and distress. It is the duty of all those in a position so to provide employment for others. Many cannot do this, but they nevertheless have a personal responsibility to their country in the present crisis.

It is the duty of every individual at this time to remain calm and patient, to place a curb on his tongue and give no encouragement to feelings of unrest and discontent among others, and to set their faces sternly against all movements which would weaken our laws and constituted authorities and offer defiance to orderly and good government. The people's rights should be steadfastly maintained, and all legitimate grievances presented, but these things should be done in an orderly and lawful way and by constitutional means.

Such an attitude on the part of the great, intelligent masses of the Canadian people will enable this Dominion to the more quickly readjust itself to peace conditions and bring into effect without undue delay those reforms in all departments of which adjustment is necessary. Displays of lawlessness, and the encouragement of unrest and discontent among the people, will only serve to hamper the progress of reconstruction and postpone the dawning of a better day toward which our feet are turned.

Demands of Socialists

Which are to Be Submitted to Peace Conference

Berne. — After considerable fruitless argument on the war, during which the German delegates refused to repudiate militarism, the Socialist conference worked on the demands which are to be submitted to the peace conference. These include an eight-hour day, restrictions on the work of women and children, emigration of paupers and home work under sanitary conditions. These conditions, it is contended, should form a part in the peace treaty.

A permanent committee and a permanent international office of control for the protection of the working classes is anticipated, as also is an international labor parliament to be called once a year. Chairman Schueberger said the conference did not constitute a quorum and that it had not been regularly summoned, but that, nevertheless, it would confine its work and submit the results to the peace conference.

LINGERING WEAKNESS FOLLOWING DISEASE

Banished by the Wonderful Tonic Powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

In almost every case the victims of la grippe, influenza, fevers, or contagious troubles, are left weak, ailing and despondent after the disease itself has disappeared. They do not pick up strength as they ought, and remain fretful and discouraged. The one sure reason for this is that the blood has been impoverished by the ravage of the disease through which the victim has passed. Strength and full activity will not return until the blood has been restored to its normal condition. The blood can be enriched and purified by no other medicine as quickly and as surely as by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves is the whole mission of these pills, and thousands have found them beneficial in bringing strength and energy after disease had left them weak and run down. Miss Beatrice Cassidy, Wrentham, Ont., says: "From my own experience I can speak in the highest terms of praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I passed through a severe attack of scarlet fever, from which I did not regain my strength after the fever itself had passed. I was left very weak, pale and frail looking, and although I was continuing to take medicine, I did not improve. At this time a friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and following the advice, I soon felt the pills were helping me, and after taking them for about a month I found myself fully restored to my old time health and strength. I therefore strongly advise anyone who feels weak or run down to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and I assure they will not regret it."

Rich red blood is the whole secret of good health, and from the first to the last dose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich and purify the blood. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A normal school building will be erected in Saskatoon. The estimated cost is $250,000.

Want National Union

Headquarters Should Be at Winnipeg Rather Than Ottawa

The remnants of a big program of business was cleaned up at the session of the annual convention of the Western Live Stock Union at Brandon. For the first time since the inception of the organization, five years ago, the presidency has changed hands. Dr. J. G. Rutherford having declared it was impossible for him to occupy the chair for another year, he was hoisted to the position of honorary president, his successor in the chair being Dr. Tolinic, of Victoria. B. C. The stockmen placed themselves on record as in favor of the formation of a national union, but many were the expressions made to the effect that its headquarters should be at Winnipeg rather than at Ottawa.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot be Cured by Local Applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an infection of the mucous membrane of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed it has a swelling, which interferes with the perfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are cured by the use of the Catarrhal Deafness Remedy, which acts on the mucous surfaces of the system. It is a powerful, yet safe, remedy. Send for free copy of Catarrhal Deafness, that cannot be cured by local applications. Write to Dr. J. C. Kellogg, 75c. Dr. J. C. KELLOGG & CO., Toledo, O.

"There's a Reason"

To Solve Canada's Employment Problem

EVERYONE in Canada should understand just what the Government is doing to solve the unemployment problems that may arise through the demobilization of our fighting forces.

(1) Employment Offices.

So that everyone—male or female, soldier or civilian—can get quickly such jobs as are available the Government is co-operating with the Provinces in establishing a chain of Public Employment Offices. Employers are being urged to make use of these offices to secure any help they need. Farmers, for example, who need hired men should apply to the nearest office. There will be a Public Employment Office in every town of 10,000 people—and wherever the need for one exists. There will be 60 different offices in all—one-half are already in operation.

(2) Employment Opportunities.

The war held up much work that will now be carried on at once. Public works, shipbuilding, roadbuilding, railway work—construction of bridges, improvement of road-bed, making of new equipment—these will provide new opportunities for employment. In addition, the Government has sent a Trade Mission overseas to secure for Canada a share in the business of providing materials and products required for reconstruction work in Europe. It has also set aside the large sum of $25,000,000 to be loaned through the Provinces to encourage the building of workmen's houses. This will mean much new work in the spring.

(3) Land and Loans for Soldiers

To help soldiers become farmers the Government has developed a programme that includes the providing of land, the granting of loans, and the training and supervision of those inexperienced in farming. At present, the soldier is granted, free, in addition to his ordinary homestead right, one quarter-section of Dominion lands. He also receives a loan up to the maximum of $2,500.

These original plans are now being broadened. If Parliament passes the new proposals during this session, the Soldier Settlement Board will be able to buy suitable land and re-sell it to the soldier at cost.

Land up to the value of $5,000 may be bought by this plan—the money to be repaid in 20 years. The low interest rate of 5 per cent. will be charged. These new proposals will also permit the Soldier Settlement Board to loan the soldier-farmer up to $2,500 for purchasing equipment, etc., in addition to $5,000 loan on his farm.

The Lilt of a Laugh

I've toiled with men the world has blessed
As I've toiled with men who failed;
I've toiled with ones who strove with zest,
And I've toiled with men who wailed.
And this is the tale my soul would tell
As it drifts o'er the harbor bar—
The sound of a sigh doesn't carry well,
But the lilt of a laugh rings far.

Oh, the men who were near the grumbler's side,
They heard not the word that he said;
But the sound of a song rang far and wide,
And they listened to that instead.
Its tones were as sweet as the tales they tell
Of the rise of the Christmas star.
The sound of a sigh doesn't carry well
But the lilt of a laugh rings far.

If you would be heard at all, my lad,
Keep a laugh in your heart and throat;
For those who are dead to accents sad
Are alert to the cheerful note,
Keep hold of the cord of laughter's bell,
Keep aloof from the moans that mar—

The sound of a sigh doesn't carry well
But the lilt of a laugh rings far.
—John Stafford.

Jane Adams, of Hull House, said at a mothers meeting:
"How quaint the minds of children are! One New Year's Day I gave a little girl a present of a diary.
"This is a diary," I explained to her
"Every day you must write in it a record of your life, a record of how you live."
"The little girl turned the blank pages of the book and said:
"But why isn't it called a lively instead of a diary, ma'am."

Intervention in Russia Appears Now Impossible

London. — Premier Lloyd George spoke again on the general peace situation. The occasion was brought about by the Capt. Hon. Rupert Guinness, Unionist, asking whether the premier was prepared to press to the utmost, reparation from Germany and also to make Germany pay to the full extent of her resources. He also pressed for more information as to the status of the British colonies at the peace conference.

"We have had far too much of the particular panacea which America is supporting at the conference," said Captain Guinness. "Since the days of Mahomet, no prophet has been listened to with more superstitious respect than President Wilson."

Mr. Lloyd George began his reply by saying that reparation by Germany was the election pledge given by the government after careful consideration by the cabinet. The government, he said, stood by every word of this pledge.

The premier, defending the pledges of the peace conference, said the government has been devoting its time to spreading up agreements. He was sanguine that a complete agreement would be reached concerning the German western boundary, but the eastern boundary was a different matter. Until the commission sent to examine the matter rendered the allies would be in no position to make demands upon Germany.

The conference was unanimous, he said, that Germany had forfeited all rights to her colonies. Mr. Lloyd George contended that with regard to indemnities, the British government was in advance of any government, as it was the first to appoint a committee to deal with this matter.

He declared that there had never been any proposal advanced at the peace conference to recognize the Bolsheviks. Russia was ready to negotiate, but difficult to deal with. He admitted that the horrors of Bolshevism were so great that there was a sense of disgust when they came to deal with the leaders, but it was useless to blind their eyes to the real facts.

Russia represented an area over half of Europe, and nearly half of Asia, and, he pointed out, if peace were not made, the whole of this immense territory would be seething in anarchy, disorder and bloodshed; there would be no peace in the world. The Bolsheviks, the premier asserted, were assassins, guilty of the crimes laid to their charge. The allies had given the anti-Bolshevik governments financial support and assistance. Much of their equipment had been supplied by the allies, who were anxious to keep the rich territories of Russia out of German hands.

If troops were to be sent to Russia, who would send them? America, he said, would send neither men, money nor material, and the work would fall upon the British and French.

The Bolshevik machinery in Russia was ruthless and brutal, but there was no doubt about its efficiency and it was the only machinery there. Everybody in the past who had intervened in Russia had come to grief. There was no idea of recognizing the Bolsheviks; it was quite impossible to do so as long as they were pursuing their present methods.

It might be argued, he said, that the Bolsheviks are going to be terror. The same could be said of the French revolution. He was unable to disclose the figures that intervention would involve, but, after seeing them, no sane man, he declared, would advise the allies, after five years of war, to undertake the enterprise. The Bolshevik military power had grown, while both England and Germany were too occupied to attack it and it was strong.

"And if we won, how long would we occupy the country?" he asked, "and what guarantee would there be that when we withdrew, a dependable government would be set up?" Referring to the alternative of allowing the fire in Russia to burn itself out, the premier characterized this as a brutal policy, and added that it would be useless to send food to Petrograd when the only disturbing organization was Bolshevik. Supporting the Prinkipo alternative, the premier argued that it was by no means unknown on the northern frontier of India to parley with brigands and even assassins. The Bolshevik system could not last forever and, in the meantime, he was informed, the threat of intervention was driving the moderate element in to Bolshevik hands.

He urged that the allies must do their best in the interest, not only of Russia, but also of Great Britain and of the world, to restore order and good government in that distracted country.

Bolsheviks Got Stores

Washington. — Large stores of food, coal, munitions and other supplies have been obtained by the Bolshevik forces along the Dvina river, according to the state department said. The despatches did not make clear whether the stores were captured by the soviet troops or were abandoned by the Czechoslovak and loyal Russian forces.

Paris. — King Alfonso of Spain, has definitely decided to visit South America, according to the Gaulois. He will go to Buenos Ayres, Montevideo and Rio de Janeiro, it is said, but the date of the voyage has not yet been fixed.

Will Sell Land

Edmonton. — About 100 offers of land in different parts of the province have been received by the Alberta office of the soldier settlement board from private owners who are willing to sell under the new land scheme now pending. They are for various sized parcels, ranging from one-quarter section to a block of 2,100 acres and the prices quoted run from $5 to $20 per acre. The list of properties so offered will be placed before Commissioner Maher, chairman of the settlement board, and Major Shore, director of lands for the west, both of whom are expected here in the course of the next few days.

Kaiser Confers With Supporters

Object of Meetings Cannot Be Ascertained

Amerongen, Holland. — There have been various indications during the last week that Count Hohenoller, the former German ambassador, is maintaining communication with his former supporters.

Two secretaries of the German legation at the Hague, Koester and Schleibach, visited the castle at Amerongen and stayed over night, having a long conference with Count Hohenoller and Hans von Guntard, the sole remaining high functionary of the old imperial court. He remains faithful to the former emperor, Baroness von Koenen, the English wife of the German minister to Holland, is still at the castle.

The object of these meetings cannot be ascertained. Further departures of the former emperor's domestic staff occurred during the last week, some of them, however, being replaced by new arrivals from Berlin. The German government has given notice to all state servants in attendance on the former emperor and his wife that they must place themselves at the disposal of the government by April 1 or forfeit all claims for pensions. Countess Keller still remains with the former emperors.

Will Not Use Military Force

League Has Not Decided to Form International Army

Paris. — Lord Robert Cecil, the British representative on the league of nations commission, denied the report spread in Paris that the league of nations commission had approved the creation of an international army and that the United States and Great Britain had conceded the point to France.

Lord Robert Cecil said that in his opinion the commission would decline, moreover, to approve any such plan. He added that such a report must have originated from an enemy of the peace conference.

Australia Will Assist Farmers

Guarantee Ninety-seven Cents Per Bushel for Wheat Crop

Ottawa. — Some interesting particulars of the steps taken by the government of the Australian commonwealth to assist the wheat growers of the island continent are contained in a report to the department of trade and commerce from P. D. Ross, Canadian trade commissioner at Melbourne. He states that, independent of earlier guarantees, owing to the federal government not having reached a decision in the matter the commonwealth government has decided to make advances of 97 cents per bushel to farmers on the 1918-19 crop of recognized quality. This guarantee immediately relieved the state government from any liability in making advances to farmers.

The advance will involve a payment by the government of over sixty million dollars in addition to railway freight and all expenses in handling.

An estimate made by the Australian wheat board puts the available supply in Australia at 156,266,000 bushels.

Chaplains Gain Honors

London. — The total number of Canadian chaplains now serving in the overseas forces is 436. The number of honors gained include five C.M.G.'s, nine D.S.O.'s, 33 M.C.'s, 35 mentioned in despatches and 13 brought to the notice of the secretary of state for war.

Two chaplains were killed in action; one died of wounds; one was drowned on the Llandovery Castle, which was sunk by a German submarine; two died of illness and twenty-one were wounded.

Four Russ Factions Join Conference

Paris. — Proposals are being made for the assembling of at least four of the Russian factions at the conference to be held on Prince's Islands. Word has come from the Ukraine that the government of that former part of Russia will participate in the conference, and it is reported that the indecision of General Denikine has given way to a desire to join the conference. The government of the Crimea already has accepted the invitation and has the Russian Bolshevik government.

Make Germany Realize We Are Their Conquerors

Claims of Belgium

Paris. — The Belgian claims as placed before the supreme council included a demand for the return to Belgium of some territory held by Germany in addition to requests for free navigation of the Scheldt and the restoration of certain territory held by the Dutch. The German districts demanded are Montjoie and Malmédy just east of the present Belgian-German border. The population of these districts is mainly Walloon and their possession by Belgium, it was pointed out, would deprive Germany of an outlet for a new invasion of Belgium.

Reds Invade Japan

Tokyo. — It is reported that Bolsheviks are daily pouring into Japan to the great consternation of the local police, who are trying by every means to prevent harm by the invaders. It is estimated that there are 400 of these undesirable, each possessed of plenty of money, living in Yokohama and Tokyo. Many of the unwelcome visitors are planning to go to America but are finding difficulty in getting certificates.

New German Ministry

Openheim. — According to despatches from Weimar, an agreement has been reached by the German national assembly on the composition of the new ministry which will consist of 14 members. Philipp Scheidemann has been selected chancellor. Dr. August Mueller, minister of economics, Herr Bauer, minister of labor, Herr Landberg, minister of national defence and justice.

Paris. — The German authorities have been asked to furnish information confirming the amount of the war material, cannon, airplanes and other equipment. This question came up in the recent sessions of the war council, when the extent of this material was advanced as a reason for taking effective measures against the renewal of warlike activity.

Before determining on any such step, it was considered desirable to request information, both as a memo, dealing with the subject, and as testing the good faith of the enemy in disclosing the status of his military equipment.

Although no official communication was issued after the meeting of the supreme war council, the Havas Agency understands that the council decided first to place Germany in a military situation where it would be impossible to recommence hostilities.

It is pointed out that the enemy countries are preserving war material permitting them to equip very rapidly an army of at least 3,000,000 men.

The council decided, secondly, according to Havas, "To make Germany realize that we are the conquerors and that it is not a 'White peace' that we are seeking to impose on her."

In case Germany submits with grace, continues Havas, it is possible that the entente would facilitate the resumption of the entente's works of peace for the benefit of Germany.

The council also had to exchange the demand by the Poles that a clause be introduced into the armistice that agricultural machinery stolen by the enemy should be restored. The council's program also contained questions of effectiveness and the raising of the blockade concerning Turkey and Bulgaria.

Now Well and Strong as Ever

After a Year of Great Suffering from Kidney Disease and Lame
Back—Two Interesting
Letters

Lindale, Alta., Feb. 19.—It is only after sickness that one properly appreciates health. The writers of these letters show how they appreciate the means whereby health was regained, and recommend the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to others.

If kidney disease is to be cured it must be taken in hand early, and that is why the warning given by backache, headache and urinary derangements should be heeded and treatment begun at once.

Mr. C. E. Raymus, Lindale, Alta., writes: "I was a great sufferer from kidney disease and lame back for more than a year. A friend of mine one day told me of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and, acting upon his advice, I tried them. After I had taken one box I felt better, so I continued until I had used five boxes. By this time I felt as well and strong as ever, and am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anyone suffering as I did."

"I know Mr. C. E. Raymus, and believe his statement in regard to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to be true and correct."—John Orbell, Postmaster.

Mr. Thomas Austin, Earl Grey, Sask., writes: "I wish to let you know what Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills did for me. Last summer my back ached so much that I not only could not sleep at night, but could not lie in comfort in bed. I tried several remedies, and finally got, for three boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, but was quite cured by the time I had used one box. I always recommend these pills to anyone suffering the same as I did, as I am satisfied and thankful that they cured me."

FARM ARCHITECTURE AND BUILDING

Electricity in

The Farmer's Home

Saves From Twenty to Twenty-five Hours a Week

Electricity is one of the most important labor savers being introduced on the farms today. It has much to recommend it for use about the farm premises.

It is safe and clean. Safe, because there is none of the risk and hazard about the use of electricity, properly wired and installed, that there is about any of the open flame lighting systems, candles, lamps, lanterns, gasoline, or gas.

It is clean. There are no smoky, smelly lamps to fill our foul-smelling appliances to care for.

Electricity service can be had wherever a wire can be carried.

Just press a button and electric current is at hand to light the premises, to turn motors, for running all sorts of light machinery, and to provide heat for bathtubs, warming pans, toaster stoves, and the like.

It will do a churning for one cent, and milk twenty cows with less than ten cents' worth of electricity.

It is the common testimony of farmers who use electricity about their property that they save anywhere from twenty to twenty-five hours a week, thus, from the labor of all the members of the family, by means of electricity.

A one-sixth or one-fourth horsepower motor will run most of the small farm machinery like the cream separator, churn, fanning mill, horse clippers, grindstones, washing machines for from two to four cents an hour, while to run a one-half horsepower motor such as will operate a milking machine or several units, would cost only three or four cents more.

It is in operations like these that electricity effects a time saving. For while it runs machines at almost no cost, hands are freed for labor that they must do for tasks that must be done with time is worth—much can say how much; for who can say how many dollars an hour farm labor is worth to certain men, seasons were crops are crying for attention and help is scarce?

A little electric motor will run a pressure pump, keeping water piped automatically to the point desired about the house, barn yard or garden.

This provides running water for use in the dairy, kitchen, laundry, bathroom, or stock troughs or right at the manglers in the stable, just at a turn of the faucet, for sprinkling lawns and garden, for washing carriages or automobiles, and, quite as important, for fire protection. A pressure of fifty pounds of water, as is maintained and this is sufficient to force a stream of water over any of the farm buildings.

Electric lighting is inexpensive lighting. A good farm electric plan will produce electricity for five cents per kilowatt hour. At that rate, ten sixteen-candle power electric lights can be burned an hour for one cent. This cost is one-fourth of what it would cost to produce the same amount of light in kerosene lamps and it is better.

While electric light and power bring much comfort and convenience to the farmer and his family, the saving of time and labor that they bring about, and their influence upon the health and efficiency of those who have to bear the burdens of the farm, are equal in value just now.

We may expect to see, during the coming months, a steadily increasing use of electricity on the farms, for the need for the power it can bring is great and farmers are realizing more and more every day what advantages come to them from the use of this convenient force, and they are calling on it to help out at a time when their need for help is great. Those intending building homes should remember that and provide for electricity, for the comfort and convenience it gives.

What a quiet old world this would be if nobody spoke except those who knew what they were talking about.—Detroit News.

Folly for Builders to Hold for Lower Prices

Duty of Business to Go Ahead Say Big Men of United States

A tendency on the part of business men to hold back new prices in expectation of lower commodity prices and wages is a mistake, in the opinion of Joseph E. Otis, vice-president and acting head of the Central Trust company of Illinois.

"I have no sympathy for the man who is sitting back awaiting lower prices," said Mr. Otis. "The people who are waiting a drastic decline in prices aren't going to get it; they are going to get left. In other words, I don't believe we are going to see an immediate and drastic decline in commodity prices. There is a world-wide scarcity of many materials, and production costs are going to continue to be abnormally high.

"We have had perhaps, a certain amount of inflation. To the extent that present high prices are due to that cause, however, we can expect no immediate decline. The process of deflation will be gradual.

"If we were all to hold back awaiting lower prices we should reduce conditions of a sort that would benefit no one. It is the duty of business to go ahead and seize the opportunities now awaiting. If a manufacturer were to defer building needed additions to his plant in the hope of securing a lower construction cost, a some indefinite time in the future, he probably would lose more profit on goods which he might have been producing and selling in the meantime than he will save on cheaper construction costs.

Frank W. Thomas, of A. C. Stangor & Co., said recently:

"In considering the outlook for commodity prices we must bear in mind that wages are going to continue high for an indefinite time, and that European competition, formerly so keenly felt in our markets, is not going to be so severe as it was before the war. Wages have been advanced abroad, with no immediate prospect of their return to pre-war basis."

Frank A. Vand-It, president of the National City Bank of New York, in an address delivered in that city recently, declared that it is possible to raise 15,000,000 men now engaged in activities to works of peace without greatly disturbing conditions.

"I would not argue that we can make this transition without any jolt," he said. "There will be some. But I believe that the demand for labor is so great that it is possible to make the transition without any jolt."

"We may make a cushion of public works. That is possible. But there are really tremendous orders that may not be executed, and on the whole, I would not be surprised to find that we shall see no surpluses of labor, providing labor and the employer of labor each does his best to live in this readjustment."

John W. Willy, president of Willy-Overland company, says:

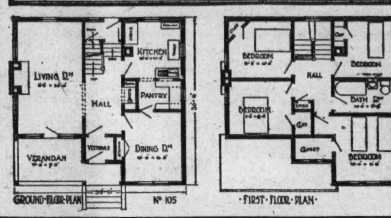

"Material prices and wages are not likely to come down in a hurry. With the passing of the first flurry of uncertainty of prices, which followed the signing of the armistice there is now a noticeable steadying of the market."—From Chicago Daily News, December 19, 1918.

Final Estimates Of the 1918 Crops

Total Yields Lower Than in the Previous Year

Final estimates of the yield of crops in Canada for the season of 1918, compared with 1917, have just been issued by the Dominion government. With the exception of barley, the total yields of all the grain crops were lower than in the previous year, but they are not so low as might have been expected in view of the extraordinary conditions prevailing. In the three Prairie Provinces 164,436,180 bushels of wheat were harvested, as compared with 171,953,190 bushels the previous year. The yield of oats and flax was also somewhat lower, 222,049,500 bushels of the former and 5,776,000 bushels of the latter having been harvested as compared with 254,877,200 and 8,538,800 bushels respectively in 1917. Barley on the other hand showed an increase from 40,834,100 bushels in 1917 to 47,607,400 bushels in 1918.

AN ARTISTIC HOME

Shown herewith is a home of somebody's choice. May we help you to analyze it?

This home will display itself to real advantage on a lot with fifty feet frontage, though it may be built on a smaller lot, the house as shown being 30 feet by 30 feet. The attractiveness of the exterior is due to the fact that architecturally the house is correctly proportioned, as well as that the lines are artistically correct and the finishing details such as the outside fireplace chimney, have not been overlooked.

The presence of the French window opening from the living room to the veranda adds a detail that is usually absent in a house not designed.

The floor plan or room arrangement is worthy of appreciative study.

A house with a central hall lends itself to good planning. Entering this wide, short hallway one is bound to have a feeling that he has really entered the home. Did you ever have the sensation—there's a long way to go before I get to the folks—that sociates itself with the narrow long hall of the average house?

The large, well-lighted living room with its open fireplace carries the feeling of welcome, too. The disposition of the living room and the location of the windows make a beautiful, homely placing of the furniture possible.

The dining room, with built-in china closet as shown, if you wish the convenient pantry and kitchen, will find appeal in their possibilities for the prudent hostess.

The upstairs, containing two bedrooms and a bathroom, is well laid out, too. The front room on the right with its large closet, lighted, will make an ideal guest room.

Lumbermen Discuss Plan Department

Has Advantages for Both Customer and Dealer—Value of Advertising

Calgary, Alta. — The subject of the service and plan department of the Western Retail Lumbermen's association was a topic that developed into an animated discussion at the convention here as to whether the department should be curtailed or carried to greater efficiency. The matter was an open discussion that brought out a number of divergent views on the subject, the majority, however, deciding that the only policy to pursue was that of going forward and not retrogression.

The service was supported by Peter Lund, of Leithridge, who rose and announced that, as he saw it, the question was one of the housing problem. This feature of the lumbering business, he suggested, contained more of the element of progress than that of any other project. He felt that it would be a mistake to curtail in any way the service department of the association. He admitted that there might be mistakes made, that the department might not be giving as good service and the greatest amount of satisfaction to every person as might be wished for, yet it is toward the building of better houses and containing the true elements of the housing problem.

"Service should not be curtailed," he said, "but rather it should be developed to a greater degree of efficiency. We are living in a new country," he told his hearers, "and the demand is for better housing facilities, which must continue if the present development and improvement is to continue."

The discussion showed that the service department was of great assistance in the matter of securing sales; as one delegate remarked, "it gives greater service than any other can possibly give." He realized that the efficiency of the department must be maintained to its present standard and should be increased, as it tended to make sales for the individual dealer. In the case of small buildings he suggested, however, that it might be a good plan to cut off some of the mills and dealers.

If there is nothing in plan book that the customer wanted it raised the point with the customer as to just what he does want, and gives the dealer a chance to propose something along the line of what the customer does want. The subject then opened up, and it is a question of salesmanship from then on. In one case this dealer had sent out a plan and the customer came back with a number of improvements that would be worked into the plan. This proved a great drawing card for the customer, and the result was that the service department came in for considerable good-will and the amount of both customer and dealer. This delegate would not hear of any curtailment in the matter of the service department.

It was also pointed out that at times there were certain discrepancies in the plans set out—that in point of the material required for the building, but it was also pointed out that in very few cases can there be found two contractors to agree on the amount of the material required. This argument simmered down to the point that it was all a matter of the man employed on the job. The outcome of the discussion was that the convention agreed that with any reasonable workmanship on any plan sent out by the department, the details were in almost every case sufficient to fill the bill.

The total expenditure of the farm loans board up to November 1, 1918, was $68,183.90, of which $42,513.22 represents interest. Of the remaining $25,670.68 the sum of $3,187.12 represents expenditure which is refundable to the board.

Building in West A Patriotic Duty

Structures are Required in Many Centres and the Work is Needed

Now that the war is over, our thoughts turn to reconstruction and the vital question is "What to do with and for the returned soldier, to get him settled back into civil life where he will not only be busy but happy and contented." Deep thinking minds seem convinced that there need be little confusion during the transition period, provided work can be found for the returned men. The soldier does not want charity, he only wants fair play and a chance to return to work. The governments of both Canada and the United States have already planned very extensive construction programs in public roads, buildings, and other improvements; the railroads are also buying steel and taking up construction work which was stopped when the war started. Now it only needs the individual to co-operate with the government to make work for every returned man. If this is done there will not be enough men to fill the jobs available.

Four years ago at the start of the war, everyone was busy, work was going ahead. Then war was declared, the western boys went willingly by the thousands, abandoning their jobs, and for lack of available labor principally, and the uncertainty of the immediate outcome as a secondary consideration, work was stopped. Now the war is over with the amount of construction work again in prospect as it was five years ago, and every returned soldier able to work will be needed.

The patriotic duty of the public generally with this condition of affairs before us would seem to be to plan for building work, to get down to a concrete basis, both for farm buildings and city work, and start construction so that it will be in full swing by the time the remainder of the boys get home.

Building Notes

The Portage la Prairie Agricultural Society is having plans prepared for a large livestock stable, which will be erected on the Island Park fair grounds.

Country papers report that local lumber yards are being stocked up heavily in anticipation of an active season's business with farmers, who contemplate building new homes and barns.

The Hudson's Bay Company is erecting a new store at Sioux Lookout. The building will be constructed along modern lines and will be electrically lighted.

Enterprises are being given by Oddfellows lodges in various parts of the country in aid of the old folks home which is to be built by the order in St. Vital on a site overlooking the Red river just outside of Winnipeg. The war has increased the need of such a home and its erection will be begun as soon as possible. The institution will provide accommodation for aged and infirm members of the order, also widows and orphans who may require a helping hand.

Plans are in course of preparation for the proposed inter-provincial deaf mutes' home, estimated cost $1,000,000.

Shipbuilders Coming to Canada London. — The Times announces that Messrs. Yarrow, the noted shipbuilders, are gradually diminishing the output on the Clyde and increasing their works at Vancouver. Messrs. Yarrow moved from Thameside to the Clyde 13 years ago. It is stated that conditions on the Clyde have hampered the output.

McAnnally occurred on February 20th
1919, at the age of eighteen years and eleven months.

by Rev. Fathers Nasine, Barney and Hetw.

The interment took place in the Roman Catholic Cemetery of that city.

Liverpool; Mary, of the Separate
School Staff, Edmonton; Stella,

How he got there.—You're late again, young man, said the boss. What excuse have you got to offer this time? Willie Wisehead: The slippery pavement, sir.
Every time I took a step I slipped back two. Boss—You did? eh? Then how did you ever get here? Willie Wisehead
—I started back home, sir!

A statement of Napoleon I. "I made the mistake of my career in not removing the Hohenzollerns from the throne of Prussia when I had the opportunity. As long as this house reigns, and until the red cap of liberty is erected in Germany, there will be no peace in Europe." The opportunity has arrived once again of removing this dynasty from the rule of Prussia. It must not be neglected.

Great Britain will have to pay in pensions $250,000,000 a year, according to an estimate made by A. Bonar Law.
Sir Alfred W. Watson, a government actuary, estimates that by 1930 the annual pensions charged will have fallen to $200,000,000 and that each succeeding decade will show a reduction of $50,000,000 but that these pensions will not have entirely disappeared by 1970.

Memorials to Our Soldiers

A subject which is engaging the attention of the people of Canada, whether they be resident in a metropolitan city or in the smallest hamlet, is the manner in which they can best and most appropriately commemorate the memory of their fellow Canadian citizens who, in the service of their country and Empire, gave their lives in the Great War. There is no centre of population in this Dominion, large or small. There is also unanimity of opinion that in every instance the memorial should be just as fine as it is within the capabilities of the people to provide. The only question is what form these memorials should take.

Recalling the magnificent memorial monuments, shafts, statues, arches, fountains, museums, and other structures to be found on every hand throughout the countries of the Old World, one realizes that in this new country of Western Canada there is a sad lack of these artistic and inspiring structures. Of course our history has been brief, and but as a passing moment in the life of a nation. We have, of necessity, been obliged to confine attention very largely to the provision of the more practical and utilitarian needs of our pioneer condition. But the time has now arrived when it becomes our duty to commemorate in some permanent manner the glorious memory of our soldiers, and to do so in such a way as to provide a source of inspiration for all future generations of Canadians.

In some sections of the Dominion there appears to be a tendency to exploit this universal desire to provide fitting memorials to our soldiers by erecting some building or institution which is a need of the community in any event. This is not the right spirit, and it should be discouraged. No attempt should be made to capitalize public sympathy with the idea of memorializing in order to provide some service which sooner or later would have to be provided in the public interest. Whatever form the memorial may take, it should be provided because it is a memorial, and not because of any other motive.

Each community will, of course, decide for itself the form and character of the memorial to its own fallen heroes. In some places it has been suggested that this should take the form of an endowment fund for the better education of the children of the poorer people, and thus give them an equal opportunity with the children of the more well-to-do. The establishment of orphanages, hospitals and other philanthropic institutions is urged in other places. In some of the smaller communities the erection of a simple tablet or monument is advocated, while in larger centres a lofty shaft or statue monument or magnificent arch is felt to be most suitable.

The character of the memorial, important as it may be, is, after all, not the most important consideration. What is important is the spirit animating the people in providing the memorial, and the lasting effect it will have on the life of the community. It would, for example, serve but a poor purpose to erect a monument which, poorly designed and crudely executed, would be a constant cause of irritation to the beholder, or, having erected a suitable and artistic monument, to leave it in a state of neglect throughout the years uncaared for amid unkempt grounds and surroundings.

It is not the object of this article to suggest any particular form or forms of memorials to our Canadian soldiers, but rather to lay emphasis upon the desirability of the most thoughtful consideration being given by the men and women in every community to the provision of a memorial of the character best calculated to impress, influence and inspire the children of present and future generations; to inculcate in their fervent love of country; to develop in their very souls a readiness to make sacrifices and render service to their country and fellowmen, and to keep ever before them the glorious example of the men of 1914-18 who counted no sacrifice too great that liberty might be maintained and civilization live and flourish throughout the world.

Our soldiers have left a priceless heritage to the nation which should be accorded a lasting commemoration and ever remain a beacon light throughout the ages to come.

Championships

Many Prizes Have Been Won By Short-horns

Short-horns did well at the Ontario provincial winter fair and at West Toronto. At Guelph, the grand champion and reserve grand champion steers were both Short-horns, while at West Toronto the single steer grand championship and the grand championship for three steers any weight, were both won by Short-horns. A Short-horn calf also won out in the boy's steer feeding competition. T. A. Russell, Downsview, carried off the three grand championships at these two shows, and all friends of the breed will extend congratulations.—G. E. Day, Sec. Dominion Short-horn Breeders' Ass'n.

DO YOU WANT

PINK CHEEKS?

They Can Be Had by Keeping the Blood Rich, Red and Pure.

Every woman—every girl—wants pink cheeks. They mean not only beauty but good health. When a woman's blood is scanty or anemic, her color fades, the looks debilitated, in short of breath and her heart palpitates after slight exertion. Sometimes this trouble is accompanied by severe headaches, or pains in the back or sides. This condition is entirely due to weak, watery blood, and can only be cured by making the blood rich, red and pure. For this purpose there is nothing so equal as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which act directly upon the blood, and in this way bring new blood and energy to weak, anemic people. Mrs. Anderson, Hearst, Ont., says: "Before coming to Canada I was suffering from anæmia for upwards of a year. I had been gradually getting paler and paler, and I did not know that I was sick, but felt constantly tired and worn out. I had no ambition for anything, and grew to hate that my brothers used to call me 'snowball.' At this stage my mother decided that she would get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which are a favorite medicine in England as well as in Canada. On the day I commenced taking them I fainted on getting out of bed and mother urged me to stay in bed for a few days. I really felt so weak that I was glad to take her advice. I looked more like a corpse than a living person. I remained in bed for a week, taking the pills regularly, and then I felt that I was able to get up, though not able to go about. From that on, however, I gained strength daily, and in a little more than a month I was feeling more well as ever. The color returned to my cheeks and lips, and my friends were all surprised at my rapid recovery. I took no medicine but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, so that they deserve all the credit for my restoration to health."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Huns Restore Art Treasure

Pictures Stolen From Lille Have Been Returned.

Paris.—Art treasures taken from occupied France by the Germans and removed to Brussels are gradually being restored to the original owners. The Times reports that three carloads of pictures stolen from the museum at Lille have just been returned and two carloads taken from the region of Laon have been sent back.

Among the ten carloads unloaded at Valenciennes, were many rare and precious manuscripts, and archives of the French government, the belfry taken from the Guild Hall at Cambrai and furniture belonging to the Prince of Monaco, the Marquis d'Harvincourt and other persons.

To Erect Exhibition Buildings

Calgary, Alta.—The industrial exhibition is about to commence buildings at Victoria park. The buildings to be erected this year will be a prominent grandstand, seating eight thousand people, costing approximately $80,000, and a fireproof cattle barn and sale ring, seating about eighteen hundred people under the same roof as the cattle stable. The cattle barn will likely accommodate between two and three hundred head.

The Beauty of a Clear Skin.—The condition of the liver regulates the condition of the blood. A disordered liver causes impurities in the blood and these impurities themselves in blemishes on the skin. Farnelle's Vegetable Pills in action upon the liver cleanses the blood and the clear, healthy skin will follow intelligent use of this standard medicine. Ladies, who will fully appreciate this prime quality of these pills, can use them with the certainty that the effect will be most gratifying.

Says Empire Will Be Resurrected

Ruling Classes of Germany Hopeful of Retaining Power.

Paris.—The German empire will be resurrected more rapidly than most people think, Dr. Richard von Kuehlman, former German foreign minister, declares in a letter quoted by Echo De Paris.

According to the letter, von Kuehlman says that the former ruling classes of Germany are still hopeful of retaining power.

The letter says that events are moving as the writer anticipated earlier in the year, when he wrote that Marshal Foch had sheathed the sword and it would not be necessary for Germany to fear France longer. Under favorable conditions, von Kuehlman is quoted as saying, the Germans will be in Paris before 1925.

That Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her

Quebec Postmistress Suffered for Four Years But Her Pain Vanished Before A Short Treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I was a Brilliant, Gaseous Co. Quebec, March 24th, (Special).—Mrs. Geo. Brand, the Postmistress here, is a sworn friend of Dodd's Kidney Pills. And like a host of others she has a reason.

"I had a pain in my left side for four years," Mrs. Brand says in giving that reason. "It never left me for one single instant.

"But after using two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, with two of Diamond Brand Pills, the pain ceased, and in over a year now it has never come back.

"I have recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills to the patrons of this P.O., for I keep the post office here, as the best medicine I have ever used."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are no cure all. They are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They are credited with cures of sore back, rheumatism, lumbago, heart disease, diabetes, and Bright's disease. The reason for this is that all these troubles sprang from diseased kidneys.

Dodd's Kidney Pills acting directly on the kidneys, put those organs in condition to do their full work of clearing the impurities out of the blood and the diseases vanished with the impurities.

IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got right away. I am certainly so convinced this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and others that I will tell them if they will give it a fair trial."

Mrs. Lizzie Courtney, 108 1/2 Ave., West Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such happiness as this is continually being published?

From displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or wife to nursing through change of life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham, Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

Teaching Thrift
at Home

In the teaching of thrift it is impossible to overestimate the importance of the home. In the producing of permanent results along this line the home can do more than any other agency. This is because the wife and mother not only regulates the expenditure of the household, but further because through example any precept she does much to shape the minds of the children on this subject.

It has been said that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, and there is a great deal of truth in the statement. It is equally true that the rising generation will be industrious and thrifty in proportion as the children are taught at home the necessity and value of these qualities.

Much may be done through advice, but possibly the best way to train the Canadian child in thrift is through the introduction of the War Savings plan into the home. Four dollars lays a War Savings Stamp. Sixteen of the latter are exchanged for a War Savings Stamp, on which the government pay 4½ per cent compounded half-yearly. W.S.S. should find a place in every home.

The Ten Commandments
of Foch

It was Mowat who wrote the ten commandments, but it remained for Marshal Foch to write the ten rules of war by which his men beat back the Germans. It is the little things that count, and it is the exact nicety of the fighting of the man in the ranks that won the war, thought the French general. Here are the ten military commandments of Foch, quoted from the Trench and Camp magazine.

1. Keep your eyes and ears ready and your mouth in the safety notch, for it is your soldierly duty to see and hear clearly, but as a rule you should be heard mainly in the sentry challenge or the changing cheer.

2. Obey orders first, and, if still alive, kick afterwards if you have been wronged.
3. Keep your arms and equipment clean and in good order; treat your animals fairly and kindly and your motor or other machine as though it belonged to you and was the only one in the world. Do not waste your ammunition, your gas, your food, your time, nor your opportunity.

4. Never try to fire an empty gun, nor at an empty trench, but when you shoot shoot to kill, and forget not that at close quarters a bayonet beats a bullet.

5. Tell the truth squarely, face the music and take your music like a man, for a good soldier won't lie, he doesn't sulk, and is no squealer.

6. Be merciful to the women of your foe and shame them not, for you are a man; pity and shield the children of your captured territory, for you were once a helpless child.
7. Bear in mind that the enemy is your enemy and the enemy of humanity until he is killed or captured; then he is your dear brother or fellow soldier beaten, or slain, whom you should no further humiliate.

8. Do your best to keep your head clear and cool, your body clean and comfortable and your feet in good condition, for you think with your head, fight with your body and march with your feet.
9. Be of good cheer and high courage; shirk neither work nor danger; suffer in silence and cheer the comrades at your side with a smile.

10. Dread defeat but not wounds; fear dishonour but not death, and die game; and, whatever the task, remember the motto of the division: "It shall be done."

She hated Walters with a half instinctive hatred that reflection showed her was justified; but beyond the concession he had made Lawrence would not be moved. On the surface, so to speak, he was logical and she was not. She was sure Walters had plotted to leave him in the coal cellar, although she admitted that he had meant to save his life when he turned dizzy upon the trunk. It was possible that he had yielded to sudden generous emotion, but she did not accept the explanation. The fellow was cold-blooded and calculating; she thought he had deliberately let his opportunity pass because this nobody would believe him guilty if he found another. But he must not find an opportunity to escape. She had been relieved to know that Foster would soon arrive. She had not told Lawrence yet; it might be better to let Foster make an excuse for his visit.

When it began to get dark, she stood near the glass front of the veranda and glanced at her watch. She could see for some distance down the valley and knew that the smoke of a locomotive would spread in a dark cloud across the tops of the pines. The train was late, but the smoke yet it was a long climb from sea level at Vancouver Inlet and in winter the line was sometimes blocked. There was no obvious ground for alarm, but somehow she was worse afraid of Walters than before.

The massed pines gradually faded to a formless blur on the cold blue-grey slopes of snow. There was no sound from the valley but the roar of the river, and by and by a servant turned on the lamps. Lucy could now see outside and discovered she had looked at her watch. She hoped no accident had delayed the train.

In the meantime Lawrence, who was sitting near her mother, had picked up a book, but put it down when Walters came in, and Lucy felt a curious tremor of repugnance as she glanced at him. It was a shrinking she sometimes felt, a shrinking at the sight of a noxious insect. Yet there was nothing about Walters to excite aversion. He was a tall, slender, handsome man, and stood in a careless pose, smiling at the group.

"The trouble about the group is that it comes to an end, and I'll have to pull out tomorrow," he said. "When are you going to give me the photographs you promised, Lawrence?"

"I'll get them now and you can choose which you like. They're in my room."

"I want one with Miss Stephen in it as well as yourself," Walters replied. "I will be something to remind me of our climb."

"Send the boy for the packet," Lucy interposed.

"I think the drawer's locked; anyhow I don't want the boy to open things," Lawrence objected.

"Then I'll go with you," said Walters. "It will save you taking the packet back and you can get ready for dinner while you are upstairs."

Lawrence got up. "Very well; I'll go now."

"Take the elevator, even if you have to wait," Lucy said as they went to the door.

Lawrence had chosen a room at the top of the building because the view was good and it got the sun early in the morning, but now and then walked up the stairs to see how fast he was recovering his strength. After a minute or two, Lucy heard the jangle for start and its harsh rattle jarred her nerves. The electric lifts they used in Canada seldom run silently, and the elevator had not been working well. Lucy was annoyed that the sound disturbed her, and imagined she had not recovered from the shock got during the walk. She was nervous and admitted that she did not like Lawrence to be out of her sight when Walters was with him. She tried to persuade herself that this was foolish, but could not banish her uneasiness. Then Mrs. Stephen looked up.

"There's the train; I didn't hear it stop," Lucy listened. She had forgotten the train for the last few minutes, and it seemed to be going fast. The sound coming of the motor and the rhythmic clang of wheels seemed to indicate that its long climb had not been interrupted. The Montreal express did not stop at the flag station unless the conductor was warned. She felt dumfounded at she realized that Foster might not have come, and she had not told her mother or she had telegraphed for him.

A few minutes later she heard steps outside; then the door opened, and she felt a thrill of satisfaction. Foster came in with Pete. He looked graver and rather hot, but it had been walking fast, but it was strange, comforting to see him. Besides, she liked his big companion, who walked with Scottish cadence.

"Foster bowed to Mrs. Stephen and then turned to Lucy.

"Is Lawrence all right?"

"Yes. He overrode himself this morning, but is better now."

Foster looked relieved. "Is Walters here?"

"He goes tomorrow?"

"Ah!" said Foster, as if he thought this important. "I should have arrived yesterday if your message had not delayed me. I think it was the train started in the morning."

Mrs. Stephen looked at her daughter, but only offered to get Walters. Foster's abruptness disturbed her. He obviously wanted to understand the situation, but seemed to think he had no time to lose.

I sent the telegram half an hour before the office closed, and as the agent goes early you ought to have got it in the evening," she said.

"It must have been kept back. Where's Lawrence now?"

He went to his room with Walters about ten minutes since."

Foster beckoned Lucy. "Then I'll go straight up; I know the number."

He went out and Lucy felt a little feeling disturbed but somewhat comforted. It was plain that Foster shared her fears and knew more than she did, but in another minute or two he would join his comrade, and Lawrence would be safe when he was there.

In the meantime Walters lighted a cigarette Lawrence gave him in his room and sat down to examine the photographs. There were a number of views of the mountains and a group of figures occupied the foreground of several. A guest at the hotel with some talent for photography had taken the pictures, and after a time Walters picked out two in which Lucy and Lawrence appeared.

"I'll take these, if you're not holding your," he said and waited until Lawrence put on a Tuxedo jacket, when he resumed, "Well, I suppose we had better go down. Are you coming?"

He went out and as Lawrence crossed the floor to turn off the light called back, "I forgot the pictures; they're in my bag. The elevator's coming up and I'll keep it when it's here."

Lawrence told him to do so. The lift had stopped between floors, on their ascent, and the electric light inside it had gone out, while the boy said something about his not being able to run it much longer. The photographs, however, were as if the bureau and Lawrence searched the room before he found them on the bench. Then he turned on the light and went into the passage, which was rather dark. The lamp at the shaft was not burning, and he could see Walters beckoning at the gate.

"He wants to get down before the motor stops," the latter said.

Lawrence hurried along the passage, and when he reached the shaft Walters put his hand on the folding ironwork.

"Come along; his light's out," he said to Lawrence, and as he stepped into somebody in the lift. "Start her off. I'll shut the gate."

Lawrence stepped forward and then clutched the ironwork as his advanced foot went down into empty space. Instead of the door of a lift, there was a dark gap beneath him, and he knew he had come very near to plunging down the shaft. He hung over it, with one foot on the edge and his hand on an iron bar, and looked at the black hole with horror as he braced himself for the effort to swing his body back. There was some strain upon his right arm, because his right knee was bent and his other leg dangled over the shaft. He held on to the ironwork and shivered him and he must use it to regain the passage.

Next moment a hand fastened on his wrist and he thought Walters had come to his help. But the fellow was stupid. He had been seized, not by the shoulder. Then the sweat ran down his face as he guessed the truth. Walters had come to help him, but meant to throw him down the shaft.

A Floating Electric Power Station

Used to Great Advantage During the War

One of the many British "frecks" vessels produced during the war is the floating electric power station, officially known as C.D. 258. Although it was formerly a ship, it was under the control of the war office, not the admiralty, having been secured for the service of the Directorate of inland waterways and docks. Its function was to supply electric current when and where required for the miscellaneous operations of this department in connection with docks, harbors and canals used for military transport. At a distance this vessel might pass for a gunboat without guns; technically it is described as a tug with a large, complete electric power station of 1,000 horse power, designed so that practically any type of electrical installation can be fed from this source. Two oil tanks, each with a capacity of 20 tons and an electrically driven workshop with lathe, drilling machine, and other repair plant, complete the main part of the equipment. While this "universal electric provider" is the direct outcome of war conditions, similar equipments are likely to be very useful in the construction of sea and river works. They are also worth considering for the permanent supply of electricity to riverside towns where owing to the nature of the sub-soil and other local conditions, an ordinary power station would be difficult of erection on a site convenient for water and fuel supply. In remote parts of the world a floating oil power station would probably be installed and run much more cheaply than a land station.

May Lift Financial Blockade

Neutral Money Markets Will Be Opened to Germany

Paris. — The financial blockade against Germany is expected to be lifted as a result of negotiations going on at Brussels. This blockade was applied at the same time as the commercial blockade, all neutral money centres being informed that any loans to Germany would result in the termination of their financial relations with the allies.

Neutral bankers furnishing funds to Germany were similarly black-listed, and the result has been to virtually shut out Germany from the money markets of the world. By raising the blockade, neutral money markets will be opened to Germany as a means of obtaining loans for payments for food. The Scandinavian countries, particularly Denmark, are said to have such exceptionally large resources that further importations of gold have been prohibited. These large resources will be opened to Germany by the lifting of the financial blockade.

B.C. Catch of Fish Sets Record

Prince Rupert, B.C. — The February fishing business represented the largest catch for that month of any year since the industry began to be developed at this port. Halibut to the amount of $24,800 pounds passed through Prince Rupert in February, establishing a new record.

Alberta's Dairy Output

Edmonton, Alta. — With a total of $27,500,000 worth of dairy products in 1918, Alberta leads the western provinces in this branch of farm production. This is an increase of about 30 per cent over 1917.

Up to Feb. 26 the people of Port Arthur and Port William had purchased $102,277 worth of war saving stamps, or an average purchase of 33c per individual.

A Statement Worth Reading

Leaders of Medical Profession Give Opinion on Value of Alcohol

Writers in the press seem given to exaggerated statements concerning the increased death rate during the epidemic of Spanish influenza because whiskey could not be obtained more easily and used more freely. The following manifesto on the subject of drugs and alcohol in India was recently issued by a large number of medical men, including Surgeon-General G. J. H. Evans, Alfred Pease Gould (vice-chancellor of the University of London) C. W. Saley, by M.D., F.R.S., Frederick Treves (Surgeon-in-ordinary to the King) and G. Sims Woodhead, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., (Professor of Pathology in Cambridge University). It ought to have weight with reasonable and thoughtful people.

1. Alcohol, cocaine, opium and intoxicating drugs (such as bangs and charas) are poisons.

2. Alcohol is a moderate use of them is harmful, especially in tropical countries like India. They are of no avail permanently to relieve physical and mental strain.

3. Those who confine themselves to alcoholic drinks, and who avoid the use of intoxicating drugs are capable of more endurance, and the better able to resist infection and disease.

4. Alcohol is in many cases injurious to the best general health, especially through its favoring influence upon venereal diseases.

5. Alcohol aggravates the evils of famine.

6. Alcohol is useless as a preventive of plague.

7. Alcohol lowers the resisting power of the body against the parasites of malaria and the microbes of tuberculosis.

8. All that has been said applies with equal force to opium and intoxicating drugs.

9. We, therefore, appeal to the people of India to maintain and extend the practice of total abstinence as enjoined upon them by their religious and social obligations.

These men apparently know what they are talking about as they occupy the very highest places in the medical world today, and can scarcely be called fanatics. It is a pity that this is what is true with reference to this country.—J. H. Hazlewood, Department of Social Service.

The Spring Rains Bring Grippe

This sort of weather brings colds and grippe. If it's just a common cold people say, "there's no danger in that!" But many a fatal sickness begins with a cold — with vitality weakened — the system is ready for the influenza germs. Begin early to ward off the attack. Purge the system of the toxins (poisons) by taking castor oil, or a vegetable laxative made of Mayapple, leaves of aloe, and jalap, rolled into sugar-coated pills and to be had at all drug stores as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

If the cold starts with a cough, and it persists then some local treatment for this condition should be taken. A well known alternative extract which has been on the market for a great many years, and which has been highly recommended by thousands of users, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This tonic compound is composed of an extract of roots and herbs without alcohol, and has a soothing effect upon the mucous membrane, allays the irritation and at the same time works in the proper and reasonable way, at the seat of the trouble—the stagnated or poisoned blood.

Force Along Rhine Must Be Retained

London. — During debate in committee of the house of commons on the military service bill, Winston Spencer Churchill, minister of war, opposing the amendments limiting the operation of the bill to December 31, 1919, instead of April 30, 1920, emphasized the fact that the British regular army had virtually disappeared and that it was necessary to keep men whom the bill retained with the colors for overseas garrisons.

Mr. Churchill said he had every hope, however, that the British foreign establishment would be on a voluntary basis before the end of the year.

The army of occupation, he added, was on a different plane and could not depend on voluntary recruiting. It was impossible, he said, to assert how long it would be necessary to have a British army on the Rhine in order to influence Germany's policy by the pressure of its presence, but he was very glad that it had been decided to send food to Germany to enable Germany to get to work and to enjoy a real measure of peace.

It was all the more necessary, however, to keep a force on the Rhine to that Germany carried out the terms of the peace treaty when it had been ratified, Mr. Churchill continued.

Conditions in Europe were getting worse instead of better, he added, and dangers were increasing instead of decreasing, and he considered that the date for the operation of the bill, April 30, 1920, should stand. He concluded by saying that he had every reason to expect the necessity for compulsion would have passed away by that date.

The proposed amendment was defeated.

Famous Battalion Disbanded

Men of Princess Patricia's Have Received Discharge

Ottawa. — The famous Princess Patricia's Canadian light infantry Canadian expeditionary force, is no more. Demobilization has been completed, the last man being discharged and the unit disbanded. It is considered the demobilization constitutes a record for speed.

There was a touching scene at Lieut. Col. A. Hamilton Gault, organizer of the unit, bade the men farewell.

Many of the men have left for their homes, those living at a distance being provided with first class sleeper accommodation and tickets in addition to generous allowance for meals en route. Toronto and western men were among those who have left.

Shock Left Her Weak and Nervous COULD NOT SLEEP

When the system receives a shock of any kind, the nerves unstring, the appetite poor, faint and weak feelings come over you, you can't sleep at night and you wonder if life is worth living.

To all those who suffer from nervous shock we would recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as the best remedy to tone up the entire system and strengthen the weakened organs.

Mrs. J. J. Bunyan, Pilot Butte, Sask., writes: "I have used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills after having suffered from a terrible shock to my whole system. I was so utterly weak and nervous I could not sleep at night, and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling all over, and I had hot flushes and fainting fits."

When I was on the second box of your Heart and Nerve Pills, I began to feel that they were doing me good, so I kept on until I had used six boxes, when I felt like a different person.

I am never without them in the house, and highly recommend them to all who suffer with their heart."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

German Parties Disagree

Independents Make Demand for Relaxation of Government Rule — Berlin. — That the majority and independent socialist parties are irreconcilably split, is the common expression in political circles resulting from a speech by Wolfgang Heine, in the Prussian diet, made in reply to the demand of the independents for a repeal of martial law in Berlin.

Following closely upon Minister of Defence Noske's castigation of the independents at Weimar, Herr Heine who is Prussian minister of justice, and one of the majority leaders, presented a scathing indictment of the faction of Hugo Haase, the independent leader, in which he reviewed the intimate co-operation existing between the independent and the Spartacists from the first day of the revolution.

Herr Heine told the independents that they were more concerned about Russia than about the welfare of Germany and said that it was not the Russian steamer roller that brought about Germany's defeat, but Bolshevik infection and corruption paid with stolen Russian funds.

Herr Heine also held the independents responsible for the Spartacist activities of the fugitive police head, Eichhorn, and for the lawlessness of George Ledebour's marines, and charged that they precipitated the recent general strike without the slightest justification.

Officials Incompetent

Soldiers at Rhyll Camp Not Blamed For Revolt

Halifax. — Lieut.-Col. Pratt, O.C. the 133rd battalion and member of the Ontario legislature for Norfolk County, who returned to Canada on the Celtic, in an interview published in the Daily Echo, attributes the unrest of Canadian soldiers in Rhyll camp to the incompetency and unpreparedness of the department of militia, which, judging by results at the time the armistice was signed, he said, was absolutely without any plan for the repatriation of Canadian soldiers.

"Argyll House is full of incompetents and dubs," said Lieut.-Col. Pratt. "There are many officers there who have wrangled their way through the war praying to God that they would last another year so that they would be able to hang on to their jobs."

"I have spoken to 102 officers on board the Celtic and every one of them has told me that they do not blame the soldiers at Rhyll camp for the action they had taken."

Decree Meets Opposition

Paris. — A decree forbidding the exhumation of bodies of soldiers killed in the war has raised strong opposition. A bill has been submitted in parliament which would authorize the exhumation of bodies in order to effect the signing of peace, and also grant free transportation to one member of the family of a dead man, in order that this member might be present at the exhumation. The bill also calls upon the government to defray the cost of exhumation and transportation.

More Rum for Britain

Kingston, Jamaica. — The legislative council is considering an income tax bill which would impose a tax on all insurance and shipping companies doing business with Jamaica. As a result of the withdrawal of embargo restrictions, arrangements are being made to ship $2,000,000 worth of rum to the United Kingdom.

World Plans to Prevent Future Wars

Prince Adolf Friedrich of Mecklenburg, is reported to have been offered the Baltic royal crown.

Mounted Police at Swift Current

Swift Current, Sask. — Swift Current is to be headquarters for a division of the reorganized Royal North West Mounted Police force. The local detachment will be in charge of Staff-Sergeant Baxter, an officer well and favorably known in this section, where he had served with the Mounties for several years previous to going overseas. Sergt. Baxter is at present in the city, awaiting instructions, having just arrived from France. The strength of the force to be stationed here has not yet been given out.

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR BABY'S OWN TABLETS

No medicine receives such great praise from thankful mothers as do Baby's Own Tablets. Once a mother has used them for her little ones she will use nothing else. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative. They regulate the bowels and stomach, drive out constipation and indigestion; cure colds and simple fevers, promote healthy sleep and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Omer LeBlanc, Waddington Falls, Que., writes: "I am well satisfied with Baby's Own Tablets and will always use them for my little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Would Like Blockade Raised

Is of No Value to British Government

London. — In the house of commons Sir Frederick Banbury, private councillor, warned the government that a continuance of the present financial methods meant, eventually, national bankruptcy. Other speakers complained that control of exports permitted the United States to stop in and capture British trade abroad. J. Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, replying to criticisms, said that the government was trying to abolish control as quickly as was safe. The export of cotton goods was free to every part of the world, except the blockade countries, he declared, and in this case restrictions were maintained for reasons of inter-allied policy. The house, he believed, would hardly assume responsibility for acting in opposition to Great Britain's allies.

Mr. Chamberlain said he was advised that it was not a fact that Americans were sending goods where British goods were not admitted. What the United States had done was to book orders and give long credits for goods to be delivered when the blockade was raised. It was open to British manufacturers to do the same.

The sooner the blockade could be raised, he said, the better the government would be pleased, and it would gratify the government if Germany could draw some of her supply through neutral countries.

Depopulated Reims

Paris. — The population of Reims, which was 117,178 before the war, is now 8,453, according to a census just completed by the government. Of this number 3,987 are men, 3,253 women and 1,313 children. Five hundred children attend school in the ruined city.

Albany to Paris

Paris. — Gen. F. H. Allenby, commander of the British forces in Palestine, has arrived here from Egypt to advise the supreme council on near eastern questions.

New York. — Because "there is some hope of making war impossible through a league of nations, but no hope of doing it in any other way," Major-General Sir Frederick Maurice, former director of military operations of the British general staff, declared that he favored the project. The general, who held his military portfolio from 1915 to the early part of 1918, added his opinion that "a great majority" of the British people were enthusiastic for the league plans.

Arriving in this country for a stay of several months, General Maurice told interviewers "that for the first time in history, the British people had been at war and they don't like it."

Previous conflicts involving the empire, he said, had been fought "with the fleet, gold and a proportionately small army," but this time the whole nation had been engaged. For every American mother who had lost a boy, he added, 15 British and 20 French mothers were in mourning for the same cause, and this had a tremendous influence on popular sentiment, at least in Great Britain, for an immortality offering a chance of preventing future wars.

In France, where Sir Frederick recently travelled extensively, he asserted that desire was paramount to make Germany impotent as security for France's future safety. But he predicted that as soon as the terms of the league were settled French opinion would be more favorable than at present.

The general reported England "almost unanimously opposed to conscription," but said it would be necessary for a few months to replace the regular army disorganized by the war.

Admitting that "you can't stop any nation from arming and fighting," he hoped that reduction of the German army to 100,000 would "get Germany and other nations out of the habit of spending money on armament."

"It Freed Me of Headaches"

This Is What Many Thousands of People Write About Dr. Chase's Nerve Food—Not Mere Relief, But Lasting Cure

Chauvin, Alta., April 1. — When the human system gets run down, the blood thin and the nerves exhausted, one of the most constant and distressing symptoms is headache. There is always a temptation to use strong drugs and rest, but such relief is only temporary, and is obtained at enormous expense to the nervous system. The headache returns with increased violence.

Real cure is only obtained when the vigor of the nervous system is restored by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Rene Page, Chauvin, Alta., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results. Some little time ago I seemed to lose my appetite, and suffered from frequent headaches. A treatment for the Nerve Food soon put me on my feet again. It helped my appetite, freed me from headaches, and restored my health. I feel like a new man now and think Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the greatest remedy ever known. I also have to thank Dr. Chase's Ointment for a speedy cure of barber's itch. I have used it for pimples and burns, too."

Certified to by Leger E. Roy, J.P., Chauvin, Alta.

Mrs. C. H. Christoffer, Greenbrier, Sask., writes: "It is a pleasure to me to write in praise of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I have used for over twenty years from rheumatism, neuralgia, violent headaches and palpitation of the heart. My back ached, I could not sleep, and was always tired and nervous. I had taken a great many medicines of one kind and another, but never got anything to help me until I used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It gave me more good than all the medicines I ever took, and I cannot say enough in praise of it."

This letter is endorsed by Mr. J. C. Bleich, Postmaster at Greenbrier, Sask.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers or Edmundson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Limitations only disappoint.

FARM ARCHITECTURE AND BUILDING

General Conditions Improving

Unsettled Becoming Adjusted As Building Season Opens

"Improved conditions are noticeable throughout the west. There is a feeling that the unsettledness caused by uncertainties of the readjustment of prices and labor is sure to become more stable in the immediate future," said Chas. F. Roland, western secretary of the Canadian reconstruction association, in an interview. "With the season approaching as it is, it is natural that both the builder and tradesman are beginning to study the situation more clearly and wisely. Public opinion," said Mr. Roland, "is thoroughly alive to the needs of the country, and to the importance of the building and contracting trades making an early start this spring, on the big program already laid out. I venture to say also that it is becoming daily clearer in the public mind, that present misunderstandings between labor and capital ought to be adjusted without delay, and that any extravagant demands of either should be given full publicity, as it is a time when the interests of the country, the public should have a clear understanding of the situation. Once the uncertainty of the labor situation is over and the buying power of the dollar is stabilized and for living is increased toward a pre-war basis, there is sure to be a business expansion in the west that will mean solid and substantial development for the future.

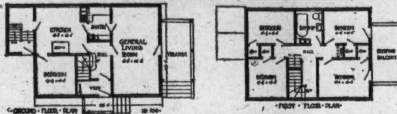

Realizing the great need for the rapid absorption of returned men into civil pursuits, the Canadian reconstruction association has recently suggested to western boards of trade the advisability of calling together local conferences in the more important towns and cities to consider the immediate industrial situation in each community, with particular reference to employment. The association feels that while results have been obtained from the large display advertisements carried in the leading newspapers throughout the country, appealing to the governments—federal and provincial—to start work immediately, there is, however, a direct responsibility upon each manufacturer, merchant and employer of labor, and it is only through the co-operation of these individual sources that the greatest results can be obtained. So important is the matter of building, which has been badly neglected in the past five years, that we should try to forget about government contracts and begin right away in earnest to put into effect plans for domestic development," all points throughout the country."

Referring to conditions south of the line, Mr. Roland gave the following extract from the United States official bulletin: "President Wilson has approved of the appointing of an industrial board of commerce, to put into practical effect a program for the adjustment of prices of basic materials as iron, steel, lumber, textiles, cement, copper, brick and other construction material, and from time to time, such other articles as may be deemed proper. The United States report says that industry and labor will have a mutual interest in remedying present conditions, but industry shall take the first step in the reduction of the prices of commodities, and should require of labor reasonable aid. In addition to giving assistance to industry in reaching a satisfactory price basis, the United States industrial board are planning to give advice in regard to such questions as the disposal of surplus war materials. Such a procedure, it is claimed, will in substance establish immediately a basis upon which to resume activities and in this way the law of supply and demand will be enabled to come into play and the trend of prices, it is believed, will be from that time upward and not downward.

A SEVEN ROOM HOUSE

U. S. Government Urges Construction

Citizen Who Builds House Will Be Public Benefactor

Three things at least may be done in every community in the United States to speed readjustment in industry, prevent suffering and lack of employment, and bring to an end the period of uncertainty between the signing of the armistice and the treaty of peace, according to George W. Coleman, director of information in the United States department of labor. Mr. Coleman has sent to business organizations in St. Paul and throughout the country a letter in which he has outlined the things to be done.

"See that your town starts at once and pushes to completion school houses and other public undertakings flayed by the war," he says. "Projects involving at least $50,000,000 in schools, were postponed last year through military necessity. Even if the country puts $200,000,000 into school houses this year we shall not catch up with the needs of our children."

"The best antidote to the growth of elements of discontent and violence lies in each man owning his own home. The man who is building or in process of paying for a home which he can call his own is rarely, if ever, an anarchist. England alone is planning the building of 1,000,000 houses needed today, and we are advised that hundreds of thousands of new houses should be put up in America this present year. The citizen who builds a house this spring will increase the social efficiency of his family and be a public benefactor as well.

"Individually, and as a society, work towards the co-operative ideal in the present year. The citizen who builds a house this spring will increase the social efficiency of his family and be a public benefactor as well. The government is also sending out to every contractor in the United States, and asking him to paste up in conspicuous places, posters similar to the one shown below, and asking him to change the poster at frequent intervals."

Wall Papers

That Destroy Light

Common wallpapers were tested recently in an illuminating laboratory for their light absorbing qualities, with the following result:

Wallpapers	Percentage of Light Absorbed
White	30

Orange	50
Plain deal	55
Yellow	60
Light pink	64
Emerald Green	82
Dark brown	87
Vermilion	88
Blue green	88
Cobalt blue	96

This table shows that if a room papered with dark green be repapered with chrome yellow it will be four times as light with the same lamps and windows.

Manitoba Headquarters R.N.W.M.P.
Regina, Sask. — Winnipeg will be headquarters for the Royal North-West Mounted Police in Manitoba, according to an announcement made by Commissioner Perry here. Manitoba will also have a reserve squadron and Brandon may be the centre where this body will be located.

Superintendent Starke will be superintendent of the Manitoba division, with headquarters at Winnipeg. — One hundred and sixty ex-members of the force and present members of Canadian cavalry regiments have been signed by Major Jennings in England. There are actually 350 on the strength in Canada.

The reserve squadron for Saskatchewan will be at Regina, which will also be provincial and general headquarters. The Regina superintendent has not yet been named.

German Barred by Grain Growers
Regina, Sask. — The German language will be used no longer in the literature and publications of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' association, according to the announcement of J. B. Musselman, managing director. At the annual convention this question was raised and left to the executive to deal with as the members of the board deemed best. French and English will be the only language used in future, unless the federal government finds it wise and safe to permit the use of other languages.

It is not possible to found a lasting power upon injustice, perjury, and treachery.—Demosthenes.

$2,000,000 Fair Company

To Act Independently of Western Canada Fair's Circuit

Brandon, Man. — A company with a capital stock of $2,000,000 has been formed, says Charles Vanderlip, to run a summer fair in Winnipeg this year, and a meeting was held of all secretaries of fairs in western Manitoba, at which Brandon was represented. Mr. Vanderlip says the promoters intend to act independently of the Western Canada Fair's circuit. The fair in Winnipeg will be held in the old exhibition park if the city will loan the buildings. Ald. A. H. Palford, who has discussed the proposition with Mr. Vanderlip, is of the opinion the city council should take up the matter at once.

Farm Lands

Command Good Prices

Regina, Sask. — Continued interest and activity is shown in farm lands throughout the province, especially in the higher-priced sections, of which the Regina district is a good example. Farm lands south of Regina, within 50 or 60 miles, are commanding from $30 an acre upwards, while lands in the immediate vicinity of the city are selling freely for between $60 and $80 an acre. In the Francis district the McClusker farm of 800 acres has been sold for $52 an acre; the Rutherford farm, immediately north of Regina, has been sold for $7 an acre to a Regina buyer, John Ferguson; the Proctor farm, in the same district, was sold for $55 an acre. All these farms are large ones of over 400 acres.

Livestock in Good Condition

Travellers in Western Canada are strongly impressed with the excellent appearance of the live stock this winter. In Southern Alberta and other parts of the west thousands of cattle are to be seen on farms and on the range that have not had anything at all to eat other than what they have picked up on the prairies or the pastures. The condition of these animals is all that could be desired. Furred horses, beef cattle, and sheep are foraging for themselves and are looking exceedingly well. On one large ranch in Southern Alberta are over four thousand calves, and one would have to go many a long day to see better animals in such numbers. These animals also forage a good deal for themselves, and receive in addition from four to six loads of hay daily. The general condition of the stock speaks well for the nutritious grass on which these animals are feeding, and for the mildness of the climate.

Alberta Out After Business

Calgary. — Alberta is to have an industrial congress on June 4 and 5 to which all the leading manufacturers of the continent will be invited as well as leaders in many other industrial lines. This is the result of a meeting of the executive of the Alberta Industrial Development Association, an adjunct of the newly created provincial department of industry at Calgary.

One of the more important phases discussed was that pertaining to coal and a resolution was passed which registers a decision to go out after the Manitoba and Saskatchewan markets for Alberta coal, to secure lower rates and greater expedition in the movement of coal toward this end.

New Roads for Manitoba

More than 1,200 miles of good roads, involving an expenditure of two and a half million dollars, may be constructed in Manitoba during the coming summer. Plans for this work have been prepared and will come before the provincial government for ratification at the forthcoming session of parliament. At the present time there are about 5,500 miles of constructed roads in the province; 500 miles of gravelled, and 5,000 earthen embankments.

To Fight Bolshevism

Berlin. — The industrial league of Germany has been organized with a fund of 50,000,000 marks, for the purpose of fighting Bolshevism, according to information reaching the Associated Press. Of this sum, the great Berlin plants contributed 5,000 marks.

Y.M.C.A. Notes

Stories of Hun Cruelty

Told by Canadian Boys Who Were Prisoners of War

It will be many years before all the tales of cruelty, of wanton destruction and depredation and of cold-blooded callousness in connection with German conduct during the war will have been told. Men who have suffered in silence rather than let their captors think they were suffering will not easily forget, nor will they allow the public to forget the suffering they endured while prisoners of war.

Capt. David W. Corbett, a Canadian Y.M.C.A. officer, who was entrusted with the task of organizing relief and recreational work for repatriated Canadians when they crossed the border into Holland in his report relates many tales of cruelty and persecution which were told him by Canadian boys, many of which make the blood run cold.

"After we had given him a bowlful of food he broke down and cried, apologizing for so doing by saying that the Huns had never drawn a tear from his eye during the four years he was their prisoner, but that the kind act and the English voice had been more than he could bear," is one of the human interest stories related by Capt. Corbett. He also relates that his first home coming trip was in connection with the repatriation of 600 young Canadians, none more than 21 years of age. They were all that were left out of 4,000 lads captured in the March offensive, none of whom had seen Germany at all, but had been kept at work behind the lines, bringing up ammunition and doing other work within gun range, contrary to international law. These 600 were in a pitiable condition and Capt. Corbett forecasts that probably 100 of them will die within the next year as a result of treatment accorded them.

Men who were working in the salt and coal mines were given especially bad treatment. For the slightest infraction of the military discipline they were driven into the hot chamber, driven there every particle of clothing and left for 24 hours at a temperature of 100 degrees and during that time they were given neither food nor water. At the end of that time they were given scanty clothing and sent to the mines to go on a twelve-hour shift while in a state of collapse.

These are the experiences that Y.M.C.A. men are hearing every day in their efforts to assist the boys on their journey from that hated Hunland to "Blighly" and many stop to wonder if the Germans come within the common conception of enemies, or whether they should not be hated with a special hate, such as the world has never seen before.

Asquith in Spain

Madrid. — H. H. Asquith, former premier of Great Britain, arrived in Madrid and was received at the railway station by representatives of Premier Romanones and the ministry of foreign affairs. He had a conference with the premier and was to have lunched with King Alfonso later in the day. Mr. Asquith said he was merely in Spain as a tourist and that his visit had no political significance.

Norwegians Revolt

Christiania. — A strong revolutionary agitation is being carried on in Finland (the northernmost part of Norway) by an organization which is planning a revolution on the Russian pattern, according to a report from Kirkenals to the Aften Posten. The organization plans to carry the revolution into Finland and Scandinavian countries.

Hunger Cause of German Strikes

Washington. — Strike outbreaks in Berlin have been due, primarily, to lack of food and not to communist or Bolshevik propaganda, according to advice to state department from Copenhagen, reporting conditions in Germany as witnessed by an official. Published reports as to the bloodshed in Berlin, according to these advisers, have been greatly exaggerated.

Passed Away

It is our painful task to record the death of our eldest daughter Mrs. E. A. Belshaw, which occurred shortly after six o'clock on Thursday evening, March 27th. For the last five years she has been suffering from the effects of an attack of pleurisy, and eight weeks ago she took to her bed and has been gradually sinking ever since.

Born in Leigh, Lancashire, Eng., in 1879, and leaving there with her parents when still a girl for Wigan, Lancs., where she lived for 22 years, later residing in Bolton, Lancs., where she was married to Mr. Jas. Belshaw, at St. George's Church, going back with her husband to reside in Wigan, which place she left for Canada six years ago.

Mrs. Belshaw early in life became converted and was an ardent worker in the Sunday school, Christian Endeavour and all the other institutions connected with a live Church.

She has led an exemplary Christian life, her first thought was always for others rather than self, a staunch friend, kindly neighbor, true wife and loving mother. She leaves to mourn their loss her husband and son, father and mother, four brothers, two in Cochrane, Alta., and two in England, both of which have been at the front one in Palestine and Flanders, and the other in France; also four sisters, one in England, two at home in Crossfield and Mrs. Turner, in Calgary, besides aunts, nephews and many too many to mention. The sympathy of a wide circle of friends goes out to the bereaved family.

The interment will take place on Sunday morning.
